

PRAYmissions

Harrisons

Greetings dear friends! On one of my favorite days of the year! Today we begin in one year and end in another. The things we hoped for and saw unfulfilled have a new chance in the coming year! We can cast off those things that did not serve us. We take up a new rhythm, goal, or direction. We follow the pulse of creation as we participate in rhythm of renewal and wait for the renewal of things. This season, I particularly think about the restoration that is to come as I have watched my own body struggle with the realities of a broken world. But I take great hope that it will not be forever.

The new year also brings the realities, both excitement and stress, of our upcoming move. We are only a few months away! We learned this month that paperwork we thought would take 4-6 weeks will actually take much longer. (FYI is your kids were born overseas, all their paperwork must be processed by the State Department, which takes a long time). This puts our leaving date in late February or March. Please continue to keep our paperwork in your prayers. At this point, all we need to buy tickets is our paperwork.

Our time with family has been wonderful. While the holidays have been different this year...no tree, few presents, and the ever present covid...we have had a special time together making some wonderful memories. We are very thankful for the gift of this season (while it slows the paperwork down) that we are able to slow down and say goodbye.

What an encouragement you all have been to us this year! We are so thankful for how you have come behind our family to support our passion and God's new direction in our life, as we prepare to leave everything that is familiar.

See the Welcome Center bulletin board for the full missionary prayer letters.
