Harrison's in Western Asia

I've been putting off writing to you because I hoped to share good news (specifically about our house). Well I have good news. Our King is on his throne. He rules the world with righteousness and justice. My present circumstance is an opportunity for me to affirm that he is Good.

It has been one of the many lessons in this season. As we continue to wait and wait and wait. To be honest, I'm starting to forget if there was a life before waiting. But I'm really thankful that my mind is shifting from the mantra of "do, do, do, produce, produce, produce" to "trust, trust, trust".

While I don't have news about the house, I do have good news about the kids! On Wednesday they attended their first day of local school! Our Father has been very good in providing a school within walking distance where the kids can attend for the rest of the school year. Our hearts have continually desired for the kids to be involved in the community through school wherever they are, but the ability has been kept from us until now. The school has graciously offered to work with our visa situation. Not only that, but the kids have each made a friend in their grade already! The days are long, and there are many uncomfortable situations with not knowing the language, but life has returned to the kids. I didn't know how much they were missing the freedom and challenge that school was giving them.

John and I have also found new life and learning in the past few days! As the demands on our time have been significantly lifted, we are able to devote much more time to language study! Please continue to be thinking of us. The shift in our schedule has been quite dramatic and we are working to adjust many areas as well.

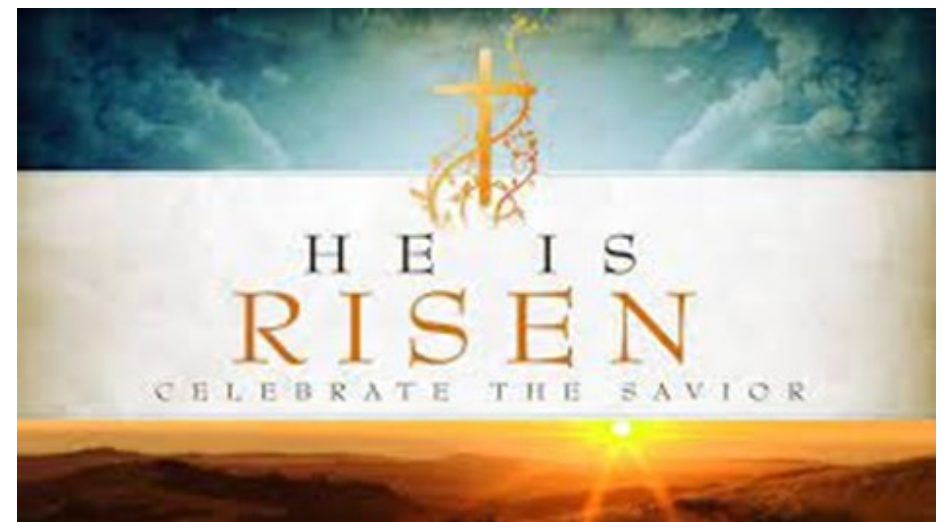

See the Welcome Center bulletin board for the full missionary prayer letters.
