

PRAYmissions

Harrison in Western Asia

And pray in the spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayer and requests. With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the people.

We have the keys to our new house (the one YOU gave generously for us to obtain). This house has made it possible for us to obtain our visas, and we will be able to move in soon!

Be in prayer for...

- Our team retreat. Our team is getting out of the city this weekend to rest, bond, and crank out our vision and goals for the next year. Pray that the Lord will be near, our hearts will be open, and no plan of the enemy will stand. Transitions have been especially hard for the kids on the team even fun ones like this! Please keep their sleep and hearts in your prayers.
- Our move. The day is getting so close to move into our home. It's so weird to think that! John has been busy working with contractors and installation techs to get everything ready before we move in. Relationships are key in this country, so there has been a lot of language practice and not very much DIY. Pray for our American hearts that want to do it all ourselves, that we can let go of the DIY and lean into the relationships. The Lord has been so kind in allowing us to set up water, gas, electricity, screens, keys, so far with relative ease! Items still on the to do list are movers, water and air conditioning.
- The end of school. The kids end their school year on Friday! I can already tell they are having lots of big emotions. This school year has been very fragmented for them. They have adapted amazingly, but pray for their hearts as they fit in this school year to their story and integrate it into their identity.
- Our relationships. What an incredible blessing it is to have names (ok, not actual names) to share with you all to pray for the relationships in our lives. Katelyn's friend S. She speaks great English so we have been able to connect quickly. She has offered to be my cultural navigation guide and is very open to talking about spiritual things! I was even able to pray with her as she is very stressed that she must move by next week.
